Regulations, Rules and Requirements: What the OHN Needs to Know

As OHNs we practice in a field directed by various regulations, rules and requirements.

From OSHA to ADA, Workers' Compensation and FMLA what is required and how do we play by the rules?

What do we need to know and how do we comply?

Join fellow OHNs as we learn the answer to these questions and more at the 2012 NCAOHN Spring Conference.

Conference Objectives

Identify factors that set the tone and influence the outcome of occupational injuries in the workplace today.

Explain pertinent reforms to the NC Workers' Compensation Act.

Discuss how to manage difficult Workers' Compensation claims.

Explain the Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA) and American with Disabilities Act (ADA) and how the two laws interact with one another.

Identify and discuss various return-to-work strategies used in occupational health settings.

Describe the responsibilities of the Occupational Safety and Health division of NC and how they affect occupational health nursing practice.

Describe the components of nursing practice in the occupational health setting.

Identify information that must be treated confidentially and explain how to respond correctly to requests for this information.
